Life aboard Norwegian Star

Debuting in 2001 and refurbished in 2018, the 91,740 GT ship carries 2,348 passengers. Inside décor is bright and it feels like a floating leisure centre with all the activities on offer. The level of hospitality is very good. All ages are well catered for. Dress is casual. The cheery and welcoming staff range over more than 60 nationalities. This is renowned as an excellent value-for-money vessel.

Accommodation

All cabins have tea/coffee making sets, rich timber cabinets, TV channels and movies, mini-fridge, separate toilet and enclosed shower, European duvets, and Elemis personal amenities. Two single beds can combine to make a double bed. Cabins have bunk beds to accommodate four, and some have inter-connecting doors for families. The ocean-view cabins have a large rectangular porthole. Balcony staterooms accommodate a third person on a sofa bed. These rooms are larger (specially those facing aft) with a sitting area and full height glass doors opening to a private balcony.

All suites are lavishly furnished, have bath and shower, and come with butlers who can serve all meals in-suite. Mini-suites accommodate four. Deluxe Owner's Suites (for 4-6) include a living room, dining room, king-size bed and whirlpool tub.

Food and Dining

The freestyle dining in twelve traditional and alternative locations means you can eat anywhere, anytime, in formal or casual dress: but this means making reservations. At the Versailles Main Dining Room, set with chandeliers and grand piano, you'll enjoy a five-course traditional meal prepared by master chefs who are members of the Chaine des Rotisseurs. The other main dining room is Aqua, with a lighter cuisine. The Blue Lagoon is a 24-hour food court, and another family-friendly site is Market Café serving a variety of ethnic specialities. It has a special section for kids.

Alternative dining with cover charges are: Asian foods at Ginza, Cagney's Steak House, pasta at La Cucina, the new South America BBQ Churrascaria, and Japanese food - Sushi, Sashimi and Teppanyaki. Also there's Pizza 24/7, delivered anywhere on board, and also to your cabin for a small charge.

Entertainment

The two-story Stardust Theatre offers Las-Vegas-style razzle-dazzle production shows, cabaret acts and comedy. Many bands and solo musicians provide dance music and entertainment throughout the ship. There'll be a pool-side White Hot Party, so bring your white outfits. The ship also features library, internet café, games room, cinema, casino, and a really comfortable writing room.

During sea days, apart from the usual activities, are lifestyle-improvement presentations on health and fitness. The wide range of fitness and recreation services includes an indoor lap-pool, fitness classes, gymnasium, courts, beautiful spa, six hot tubs, a lap pool, and adults-only pool. Indoor and outdoor facilities and activities for children and teenagers are outstanding: this is a family ship.
